A COMMUNITY'S NUMBER ONE CITIZEN—IT'S NEWSPAPER

The man most looked up to in the community is usually one who participates in the activities of its government, church, schools, and social life, and is well-known and liked everywhere he goes.

If the newspaper of the community is not a living person, it is nonetheless alive, and just as the looked-up-to citizen does, it takes a part in the community's affairs, and a place in the hearts of the citizens.

It is in touch with the thoughts, feelings, and ambitions of a community's people. It has the power to give them effective public expression. The newspaper can publicize good and bad government, promote public improvements, give expression to public opinion, as no other single agency is able to do.

The newspaper often leads, pointing the way to progress. Frequently it joins forces with organizations and leaders to promote projects that need pushing. It never ceases to influence the destiny of the town and its people.

At best, a town without a newspaper is at a standstill. It may know where it has been; but it cannot tell where it is going, because it cannot see the way ahead. At worst, a town without a newspaper is easy prey to all the ills that public ignorance can develop: bad government, social and economic stagnation, loss of community spirit, and loss of contact with neighbors.

The newspaper is the eyes, ears, and soul of the community.

Let's keep it free.

Fire Prevention
Week ProclamationSTATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

A PROCLAMATION by Governor
Adlai E. Stevenson,

Loss of life and property by fire is one of the serious and distressing problems which confronts our State and Nation.

In the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1949, no less than 388 persons lost their lives from fire or burns in Illinois. Many times that number suffered painful injuries, some of which were permanent.

In the same period property with an estimated value of more than $32,000,000 was burned in this State. This is not only a serious loss of material resources. It also involves an immeasurable amount of human suffering, deprivation and despair which comes when homes are wiped out, prized personal possessions destroyed or places of employment razed.

Fire authorities agree that the great majority of fires and casualties are due to easily preventable causes. It is important to impress this upon the public and do everything possible to keep our people fire conscious.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, ADLAI E. STEVENSON, Governor of the State of Illinois, do hereby designate and proclaim the period from

OCTOBER 9 to 15, 1949

to be observed throughout Illinois as

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

No community should overlook the importance of observing this week. It can be the means of stimulating a public interest on which a year-round program of fire prevention may be built.

It should be brought out forcefully that most fires are due to simple and easily preventable causes, such as careless smoking habits, rubbish and litter, misuse of gasoline and kerosene, worn or frayed electric cords, placing of pennies behind electric fuses, unsafe heating equipment and defective fuses.

Special attention should be given to educational programs in the schools. Our hope of building a fire-minded citizenry lies in school children of today.

The 66th General made an important contribution to fire safety when it amended the Illinois Fire Prevention Statute providing for the adoption of a basic fire prevention code and giving fire chiefs and other local officials authority and responsibility for enforcement of this code by fire prevention inspections under the supervision of the State Division of Fire Prevention. It would be appropriate to intensify these inspections during Fire Prevention Week.

Cooperation of fire chiefs, municipal officials, school authorities, chambers of commerce, civic organizations, the press, radio, theatre and citizens in general is requested in carrying out the purpose of this week.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Illinois to be affixed.

Done at the Capitol, in the City of Springfield, this First day of September, in the year of Our Lord One Thousand, Nine Hundred and Forty-Nine, and of the State of Illinois the One Hundred and Thirty-First.

(Seal) ADLAI E. STEVENSON,

Governor

Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098

Three members from the Bobzin-Swinford Post 1098 attended the Will county council of the American Legion held at Peotone Friday, September 16 at 8:00 p.m. They were Commander Russell Carroll, Adjutant Kenneth L. Oetter and Donald L. Oetter. During the meeting a brief discussion was held on giving a television set to the nurses home at the veteran's hospital at Dwight. A motion was made to notify each Post in the county and ask them their viewpoint on giving this set to the nurses' home. With Christmas coming in the near future the program "Gifts for Yanks Who Gave" was discussed and the Harwood Post No. 5 will again be the collection point for all gifts from this county. Posts that have gifts will bring them to the Harwood Post and from there they will go to Elgin to be sorted and packed by the District chairman for the program before they are sent to the various hospitals in our area.

The local post held a special meeting Monday evening, September 26 in the Frankfort village hall. Business attended to consisted of sending our dues for the coming year to the Will county Council of the American Legion; donation of $5.00 to the Soldiers and Sailors home for children at Normal.

Post activities in the future were discussed with a dance being planned for latter part of October and again sponsoring a poultry party before Thanksgiving to raise money for the program "Gifts for Yanks Who Gave."

SCHOOLS TO GO ON THE BLOCK

As a "next step" in the plans for consolidated schools where the voters approved of the consolidation as was the case in Peotone, surplus school real estate will be sold.

In consolidating Green Garden-Manhattan, Will and Wilton townships and creating the new district Unit, 207-U, a number of schools are now not being used. The new board was given the authority to sell this surplus property of buildings and personal property at a special election held September 13 when the voters approved of the sale 111 to 22. In each of the four townships involved, the sale is being conducted by the school trustees.

The sale will start in Manhattan township October 14 at 9:30 in district 111, then to district 113, Next to Wilton Districts 107, 110, 109, 57 and 58. Saturday, October 15 the sale will continue and will open at 10:00 A.M. in district 153 in Green Garden. It will continue on the hour throughout the day at districts 148, 147, 146, 145 and 150.

The sale will be held in Will township October 21 and in Peotone township October 22.

CORRECTION

In the article last week stating that the A. C. Bauch bowling alleys and restaurant would open on October 10, we were erroneously informed as to the date. Mr. Bauch states that should everything progress as scheduled, he expects the recreation center to be open within two weeks.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS TO MEET

A joint meeting of the Mokena and New Lenox Royal Neighbors will be held in the Mokena public school auditorium Wednesday evening October 12, at eight o'clock sharp.

Burglars were busy last Friday and Saturday nights when they cracked several safes in New Lenox business places and made a clean get-away.

Friday night they broke into the New Lenox Coal and Feed company by breaking a window in the back of the building. Here they broke into the safe and took $140, as was discovered by the owner, Mr. Sheldon Hauck when he arrived at his office Saturday morning. Of that sum of money taken, $116 belonged to the New Lenox Band Parents association, which Mr. Hauck was keeping for them. The next morning after the robbery, when Mr. Hauck found that the money stolen belonged to the association, he at once wrote a check for the $116 and gave it to the association, so that they would not be the losers.

The same night, they also broke into the Otto Bormet garage, which is two doors west of the Coal and Feed company. Entrance was gained in the same way and the rivets holding the dial on the safe were broken, the dial was knocked out and the tumblers ripped, which gave them access into the safe. For all this work they were awarded by finding only $15 in silver money.

Drawers from the both safes were later found in the rear of the Bormet garage.

When Mr. J. Jones, agent for the Rock Island depot in New Lenox arrived at the depot Sunday morning, he discovered a window broken in the office and on investigation found that about $40 had been taken from the Rock Island and American Express company's cash drawer.

Sunday night the New Lenox bakery was broken into. Entrance was also gained by breaking a window in the rear of the building. There the burglars found one dollar in pennies. They left through a side door. Mr. Ned Barnett who lives in the flat above the bakery, said he remembered hearing the cash drawer open that night in the bakery below.

Safes were also cracked that same night in the Plainfield Grain elevator where they took $296.

MILLER-
CAMPBELL
NUPTIAL VOWS

At a solemn nuptial mass in St. Mary's Carmelite church in Joliet, September 17, the former Ruth Ann Miller became the bride of Robert C. Campbell. Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miller of Joliet, formerly of New Lenox and Mr. Campbell is the son of Mrs. Edna Campbell of New Lenox.

Rev. Father Fabian Donan performed the double ring ceremony. Accompanied by the church organist, two soloists from the church choir sang several selections.

The altar was banked with white mums, gladioli and palms. Mr. Miller gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long tight fitting sleeves and a full skirt. Her finger tip veil was held in place with a tiara of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses. Her only jewelry was a single strand pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Lucille Miller, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gold satin gown fashioned with puff sleeves and full skirt, and carried a bouquet of talisman roses. James Miller, brother of the bride was best man. Ushers were Robert Rich and Norman Glenn.

More than 100 guests attended the reception held from 6 until 8 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents. A breakfast at 1:30 o'clock was held at the McCulloch tea room for members of the bridal party and immediate families.

The bridal table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three tiered wedding cake and white tapers in crystal candelabra.

Both mothers wore black crepe dresses with black accessories and a red rose corsage.

The couple departed on a short wedding trip. For traveling, the new Mrs. Campbell wore a brown fall suit with toast colored accessories and a rose corsage.

Upon their return, they will reside at 623 North Hickory street in Joliet.

Newspapers Can Help Preserve Freedom

By Rodney Fox, University of Milwaukee

Newspaper publishers and readers together face tremendous responsibilities if the 1949 Newspaper Week slogan is to mean anything.

That slogan, "Freedom Goes Where the Newspaper Goes," can be made true only if newspapers are FREE and only if newspapers are RESPONSIBLE.

Russia has some big and well-read papers. Because they are controlled by the state, they hardly are companions of freedom.

In France, before the war at least, it was common knowledge that many papers were financed by commercial or political interests. Some of them played the German hand skillfully. They didn't stand for freedom.

A great and trusted American correspondent, Hallett Abend, recently charged that American military censorship has kept Americans from knowing the truth about the situation in Japan.

It's painfully obvious that in the United States, where an amazing degree of freedom of the press exists, some newspapers are irresponsible. Some of the largest and most powerful papers twist and distort the truth to make it fit prejudice and selfish interest. With thoughts directed only toward greater profits, some papers exploit sex and crime without concern for social harm that may result from the paper's irresponsibility. Many American papers make no positive efforts to help preserve the gifts of peace and freedom.

If a great proportion of newspapers effectively work to keep their freedom and to use that freedom with a high sense of responsibility, newspapers can continue to be one of the great factors in the battle for continued liberty for everybody. The newspapers will need the help of their readers to insure continued press freedom.

With the help of all men of good will, the newspapers and freedom can go forward as companions toward the better world men have always sought.

If newspapers and freedom travel that way together, then truly can it be said that "Freedom goes where the newspaper goes."

This is newspaper week and we invite all to observe it with us.

Fire Prevention Week

During the next twenty-four hours, the chances are that fire will take 30 lives—and destroy $2,000,000 worth of property. And that will happen during every ensuing day and night, if fire waste continues at the present rate.

That is why public officials and civic groups in some 10,000 communities are now organizing in preparation for the 1949 Fire Prevention Week observance, which will take place from October 9 to 15.

Fire Prevention Week has been an annual event since 1920, when President Wilson issued the first Presidential proclamation authorizing it. It has only one purpose—to show us the simple precautions that will prevent most fires. To achieve that goal, thousands of experts contribute freely of their knowledge, time and energy. Nothing is left undone that might serve the cause. Practically every American, unless he be a hermit in the hills, has the chance to gain knowledge that may save his life, his home, his job.

However, this fine work is of small value without public cooperation. The experts are ready to teach us, but they cannot make us learn unless we wish to. They are offering an opportunity—and it is up to us to take it.

The point is plain and simple. Listen, read, and learn during the week—and put into constant practice what you learn. If we do that, fire's horrible and unnecessary harvest of death and destruction will be sharply reduced.

Motorists Attracted By Autumn Foliage

Autumn landscapes are attracting motorists into automobile trips ranging from day-long picnic excursions to long trips, according to a bulletin issued by the Touring Bureau of the Chicago Motor Club.

State parks and colorful local regions are expected to continue to draw streams of motorists throughout October and into November, the motor club forecasts.

The foliage in northern Illinois starts turning about the first week in October and by the second and third weeks is at its best. A trip through Starved Rock State Park, Deer Park, then to Moline and north along the Mississippi to Savanna and White Pines State Park will be a rewarding weekend journey.

Central Illinois offers colorful panoramas in the area of Lake Bloomington, Lake Decatur, the Sangamon River Valley and New Salem State Park.

Southern Illinois presents many varied scenes at this season around Marion, Carbondale, Horseshoe and Crab Orchard Lakes, and the Glendon State Parks. The autumnal river scenes of the Mississippi, Ohio and Kaskaskia are memorable sights.

The beauties of the Indiana countryside in the fall will attract visitors to Turkey Run State Park and the nearby Shades of Indiana, a new state park offering many varieties of trees and plant life and possessing a dense, shadowy forest, the "Shades of Death."

Brown County State Park, located east of Bloomington, is especially popular in the fall with its picturesque forests, lakes and streams.

Michigan and Wisconsin, with their extensive woodlands, are a colorful lure in the autumn.

LABOR LEADERS ON A&P'S SIDE IN TRUST CASE

A deluge of telegrams from the nation's labor leaders and thousands of messages from consumers all voicing opposition to the anti-trust suit against A&P Food Stores, have flooded the company's New York offices, an official of the food chain said.

Union heads representing butchers, meat cutters, clerks, warehousemen and truck drivers began sending wires as soon as news of the suit calling for company dissolution reached the press. At the same time, thousands of consumers have swamped A&P headquarters with phone calls, telegrams and letters praising the company's operations and criticizing the anti-trust charges.

The labor chiefs brand the suit an attack against organized labor and a threat to current living standards. All oppose the action of the anti-trust lawyers and pledge support of A&P's plan to defend its low-price retail policy.

Reflecting the sentiments of thousands of organized workers in food and allied industries, the messages stress A&P's high wage scales and excellent working conditions.

Earl W. Jimeron, president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, an A.F. of L. affiliate, in regretting "the action taken by Attorney General Howard McGrath," said his union was ready to "aid your company in any way we can."

Jimeron's wire referred to A&P as "almost thoroughly unionized," and assailed the action as a sinister move to single out the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. Stating that "the whole suit is nearly a blast at organized labor," the message added that the company meets union wage rates throughout the country. "This friendly attitude," it continued, "is reflected in your company's dealings with practically all other unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor."

A wire from the teamsters' union, Boston, said that "in view of our excellent labor relations with the A&P, Local 829 will do all in its power to publicize that the A&P pays the highest wages and provides the best working conditions for all its employees," and "is one of the largest contributors to the high standard of living the American public now enjoys."

The message was signed by John E. Hamilton, John J. Greeley, and John C. Harrington, business representatives of Local 829.

Similar statements were contained in telegrams from all parts of the country where A&P operates.

Seven-Day Religion

Lesson for October 9, 1949

EMPLOYERS don't care much for letters of recommendation signed by preachers. Not that they think preachers are dishonest. The employer is glad to know where the chap is on Sunday mornings. But he would rather have a letter from somebody who sees him every Saturday night and Monday morning.

Religion Won't Keep Sweet by Itself

IT IS a temptation as old as religion, to put it on one side of a wall and life on the other. But the prophets showed, once and for all, that God has literally no use for religion which has been dissected off from life. Religion which is kept apart from life turns sour and bad. In Isaiah's time, everybody knew there was something wrong with the country.

Isaiah's diagnosis was shocking: Religion is our principal trouble. God is tired of it. What? The pious people would exclaim. Look at the crowds in the Temple every holy day! Listen to all the prayers, count the number of tithers. If anything is wrong with our country, it can't be religion! But religion it was.

Why God Was Tired

A CATHOLIC priest would shock everybody should he call Vatican City "Hell's Half Acre." Isaiah shocked his fellow citizens by calling Jerusalem "Sodom and Gomorrah." Those cities were the worst places the Hebrews had ever heard of.

They were so bad the Lord had to destroy them by fire—not 10 good people could be found there. The prophet follows up that first shock by another. Every single expression of organized religion comes under the prophet's lash.

Sacrifices and offerings (v.11), attendance at the sanctuary, observance of the Sabbath and other holy days (v. 13), church gatherings, corresponding to our rallies and conventions (v. 13), even prayers (v. 15).

Put that into modern terms: attendance at church, Bible reading, tithing, praying—if that is all, then all is no good. It may be religion, and of course it is one kind of religion; but not the kind God wants.

Indeed, Isaiah says God hates it; he is "fed up" with it (vs. 11). What was wrong? Isaiah tells them that, too, in short simple words. "Your hands are full of blood."

Oh, the people would protest, we are not killers, we don't lay a hand on anybody. Isaiah goes on to explain: seek judgment (i.e. justice), relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.

You don't kill outright, you churchgoers, he would say, but you are so indifferent to justice in your city, you take so little interest in the people at the bottom of the heap, that people die here, widows and orphans die, simply because no one cares.

What Makes a Town Worth Saving?

LAST, nobody did care. One hundred and more years went by, and Jerusalem came close to its end. But nobody thought that disaster could strike. The belief had grown in every one's mind that the Temple of the Lord would forever insure the safety of the city in which it stood.

But a young prophet, Jeremiah, preached a sermon on the same theme as Isaiah's (Jer. 7) It is not the temple that will save you, it is not church attendance that will bring you the favor of God.

As the men of Jerusalem looked back to the great days of Moses, they thought of the sacrifices and offerings, the tabernacle and the rituals and all the pageantry and paraphernalia of a picturesque religion, as the great thing that God had given them.

But God remembered it otherwise. Jeremiah even says (with understandable exaggeration) that God had not said a word about sacrifices and offerings; the Ten Commandments, with all they implied, were the main thing.

What God looks for, back of all our church attendance and Bible reading, is "justice between a man and his neighbor." A place where that can be found is a good place.

"I'M NOT SO SURE I WANT THE JOB"—Poquita, in the hands of his master, Xavier Cugat, looks as though he doesn't give a hoot over his honorary chairmanship of National Dog Week. On the contrary, the rhumba king's familiar pet looks as though he'd be more comfortable on New York's good old terra firma and the firma the terra the better.

Rosinweeds of The Prairies

By Roberts Mann, Supt. of Conservation, Cook County Forest Preserve Districts

More than half of Illinois, the Prairie State, was originally prairie—largely the Tall Grass Prairie characteristic of the climate zone where the annual rainfall averages 35 inches or more, dominated by such grasses as the big bluestem and coarse slough grass which grew 6 to 8 or more feet tall, so thickly that most other plants were excluded. The ridges and uplands, however, were characterized by the little bluestem and similar grasses growing from 2 to 4 feet tall, but included an ever-changing succession of flowering plants from early spring until late fall.

Plants are crowded in a prairie. There is severe competition for sunlight and for food and moisture. The early spring plants are mostly small and low, growing rapidly to flower and seed before they are overshadowed by the grasses. By midsummer even the taller plants that bloomed in late spring are nearly all hidden. But the late summer and autumn blooming plants continue to grow until most of them stand far above the grasses.

From mid-July until October is the season of purple and gold. Many species of goldenrod bloom, sometimes in great masses. The yellow and gold of the sunflower and rough oxe-eye punctate broad bands of lavender and purple created by the candle-like heads of the blazing stars. In August, the brilliant purple flowers of the ironweed appear, and until late fall, numerous asters bloom in colors varying from white or lavender to blue or rich purple. Meantime the prairie grasses slowly take on the red and bronze and golden tints of autumn. Towering above them all, stand the yellow flowers of two rosinweeds; the Compass Plant and Prairie Dock. The compass plant gets its name from the fact that each leaf, especially the large erect ones at its base, tends to twist into a vertical plane with its edges pointing north and south, so that both surfaces of these stiff rough deeply-divided leaves share the sunlight equally. The stalk, which grows from 6 to 12 feet high, is stout, rough, covered with stiff hairs, bears leaves which become smaller and less divided toward the top, and bears several or many heads of big yellow flowers which are sometimes 5 inches broad. It exudes white sticky aromatic blobs of resinous juice when cut or broken, and these are often used as chewing gum by children.

The prairie dock seems to prefer dry prairies and warm gentle slopes. It is striking because of its very large rigid leaves, very rough on the underside, heart-shaped with spiny teeth along the edges. Commonly a foot long and 6 inches wide, we measured several that were 18 inches long and 12 inches wide. In autumn they turn dark brown and curl stiffly in decorative shapes. The stalk grows from 4 to 10 feet tall, smooth and leafless except at the base. It usually branches near the top and bears many yellow flowers 2 or 3 inches broad.

The Entire-leaved Rosinweed is another common prairie plant, with thick rigid leaves on a stout stem that grows 2 to 5 feet tall, branching near the top and bearing numerous yellow flowers. The Cup plant grows in low moist places. Its stout square stem bears big coarsely-toothed leaves in pairs, the upper pairs grown together to form cups often partly filled with water and drowned insects.

In the prairie, characterized by successive layers of bloom above the ground, we find successive layers of roots in the soil. A few plants send their roots down not more than 18 inches; some reach a depth of 4 or 5 feet; but about 65 percent penetrate much deeper: sometimes to 20 feet or more. Among these we find the big tough taproots of the rosinweeds, which go down and down and down. Actually, the bulk of the prairie is not above the ground but is below the surface.

This fact made possible the Corn Belt—the breadbasket of our nation.

And You ALWAYS Get It

When You Use

McCormick Equipment

One day, right in the middle of harvest, a customer hurried in and asked for a replacement part for his 10-year-old combine. I went to the parts bin, and as I came back and plunked the part down on the counter, he grinned and said:

"That's what I like about using McCormick equipment. When I do need a part, you always have it or can get it right quick."

He started to walk out, and I said, "How about letting our service man put that part on for you? Your machine might need a little adjustment here and there, and he can do that at the same time."

He thought it over for a minute, and laid the part back on the counter. "Go ahead," he grinned. "I've got a couple of other things to take care of here in town anyway. The combine is standing in the field south of the house."

He turned to go, and I mentioned, "If you're not at home by the time he puts on the part, I'll have him try the combine and look it over thoroughly and give you a report. Maybe we can get together and arrange to fix it ahead of time for next season and save you time and trouble."

"Go ahead," he agreed again. "That's what I call real service!"

"Just a part of our regular IH 5-Star Service," I said.

The Sunday School teachers meeting of the Methodist church will be held this Friday night at the home of Mrs. Hugo Neithammer.

Mrs. Clara Guthrie entertained in her home at a dinner last Friday evening in honor of Mr. John Marquardt and his birthday. A large beautiful cake graced the dinner table. Guests were the honored guest's mother, Mrs. Augusta Marquardt and Miss Theresa Marquardt of Joliet; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stankus and Russell Jr. Cards and dancing to recorded music was the evening's pastime.

Mrs. Clarence Cleveland, who has been a patient in Silver Cross hospital for several weeks, is slowly improving. She is still confined to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newton Jr., and son left Saturday by motor for Sparta, Wis., where they are visiting with the former's brother. While there, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Newton from Dakota arrived and all had a pleasant visit.

Mrs. Margaret Bechstein entertained a group of friends at a five o'clock dinner in her home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rinke have returned from a week's visit with relatives at Ft. Morgan, Colo.

Mrs. William Semmler entertained in her home Saturday evening at a surprise party in honor of Mrs. John Martin and her birthday. Pinocchio was played followed by a buffet luncheon. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Deadmore, John Martin, Theodore Berger, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Schmidt, Miss Adeline Semmler, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Westlund and Mrs. Nellie Flacks of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strassenberg and Mrs. Florence Steele returned last Thursday from a much enjoyed auto trip to Bentleyville, Pa., where they visited the Strassenberg's daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Conley. This was the 29th wedding anniversary of the Strassenberg's and as a gift to themselves they purchased a fine new Dodge DeLuxe sedan to make the trip in. Needless to say, they all enjoyed it very much, as well as the historic places they visited. Among them were Ft. Ness, where George Washington fought in his first battle. There they saw many of Washington relics. Bentleyville is an old town, founded in 1755. It is the center of three coal mines, and as the mines were not operating, they saw many miners.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Thiel and daughter Ursula returned last Friday from Terre Haute, Ind., where they were guests at Homecoming at the Rose Poly Technic Institute where their son Gunter is a student. He is also president of his

Ideas for Two New Grain Storage

Two more ideas for providing more grain storage space were passed along today by farm buildings specialists in the Illinois College of Agriculture.

One suggestion was to use scrap sheet steel from the local junkyard to make your own bin. The other was to use large empty storage tanks like those for storing malt or gasoline. Both ideas came from a book issued by James F. Lincoln Arc Welding Foundation.

A Stephenson County farmer made his own grain storage bins from inexpensive 10-gauge sheet steel. He used steel to get away from the damage by cattle, rodents, and weather. The bins are hopper style with sloped bottoms so that the grain will flow out by gravity when he opens a gate at the bottom. Angle iron is used for bracing outside so that the inside will be smooth.

Another Illinois farmer picked up an old malt storage tank about 10 feet in diameter and 20 feet high. He cut it in half with a welder and put the two halves on cement foundations. He also cut doors and windows in the tank. Now he has grain storage space that is strong and eliminates all weather and rodent damage. Any large tank-type structure can be used to make a similar granary.
